“My aim in helping the patient was not to cause death. My aim was to end suffering. It's got to be decriminalized.”
-Jack Kevorkian

The Treatment Process: What to Expect

Our organization places immense pride in our top-quality patient care. We work hard to make sure you feel comfortable while you learn more about your options and explore the choice that best suits you. Furthermore, as the moment approaches, we will work to make things as simple as possible, and support you every step of the way.

Support for Patients and Families

After patients choose euthanasia, our organization will provide counseling and emotional support to you and any family member who pay feel like they need extra support to aid you in your treatment. You are never alone, we're here to help.

Making the decision

Our doctors will make sure to provide you with concise and useful information so that both you and your family are aware of how the process works. We will walk you through every step to reach your goal with confidence.

Treatment Options

Euthanasia has faced many controversies in the past. Over time, support has grown allowing us to offer patients different options such as voluntary euthanasia, physician-assisted suicide, and palliative care depending on legal and medical guidelines.

Legal States

Currently, euthanasia is legal in certain parts of the world and a few regions within the United States, though physician-assisted suicide is more commonly legalized. Specific laws vary by location, and eligibility depends on strict medical and legal criteria.

Some states include Oregon, Washington, California, Colorado, Vermont, New Jersey, Maine, New Mexico, Hawaii, Washington D.C., Montana
